CURRICULUM VITAE

Leonardo, 24 years old, holds a master's degree in Historical Sciences, driven by a deep desire to acquire new knowledge and skills in the academic field.

Native Italian speaker.

Good knowledge of written and spoken English.

Basic knowledge of French (listening and reading) and Spanish (listening and reading). Proficient in computer skills (Microsoft Office Suite) and editing.

Good familiarity with the University of La Sapienza's online portal (Infostud).

Possesses great professionalism and competence in public relations, developed through experience in welcoming and supporting the civilian population during the Covid-19 health emergency.

Regularly writes popular articles for websites focused on history and collaborates on several editorial initiatives (proofreading). Additionally, he has written articles for the Rivista di Studi Ungheresi (RSU), published by Sapienza Editrice, and he is member of the editorial committee of the aforementioned journal.

Between May and September 2023, he served as a technical and IT tutor (Bando tutorato BT-B1 216/2023) at the "Marco Polo" campus of the University of La Sapienza, which allowed him to enhance relational and university-workplace skills.

Since 2023, he has collaborated (under the direction of Prof. Andrea Carteny and Prof. Stefano Pelaggi) with the Taiwan Center for International Strategic Studies (TCISS) to publish articles on Indo-Pacific issues for the website Geopolitica.info.

In June 2024, he participated in the IX Conference of the Italian Society for International Studies as a co-author of an article on military archives and the post-Ottoman world.

After earning his master's degree in Scienze Storiche (LM-94), he has been enrolled in the Ph.D. program in Storia e Culture dell'Europa at the University of La Sapienza in Rome since October 2024.
