RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

01/11/19-ongoing

PhD candidate in Cognitive, Social and Affective Neuroscience, Department of Psychology – Sapienza University of Roma (Roma, Italy)

Supervisors: Prof. Cristiano Violani, Prof. Caterina Grano

I am working in Prof. Cristiano Violani's Clinical Psychophysiology and Health Psychology Laboratory, mainly on psychosocial and physiological predictors of physical and mental well-being in different "at risk" populations (e.g. caregivers, pregnant women). In particular, I am interested in cardiovascular (e.g. Heart Rate Variability – HRV) and biological (e.g. cortisol) index of stress and their association with the development of mental disorders (e.g. depression, anxiety) and physical diseases. Moreover, I am working on two projects related to the COVID-19 pandemic with a focus on preventive behaviours.

01/03/2018-31/08/2018

Pre-lauream internship (Master's degree) at Psychobiology Group Laboratory (Group Leader: prof. Andrew Steptoe), Department of Behavioural Science and Health – Institute of Epidemiology and Health Care, University College London, UCL (London, United Kingdom)

Research project: "Emotional factors and coronary heart disease"

Supervisors: Prof. Andrew Steptoe, Dr. Lydia Poole

I spent my pre-lauream Erasmus+ for Traineeship scholarship at Andrew Steptoe's Psychobiology Group Laboratory, University College London. I have developed knowledge and skill in advanced psychobiological research methods, conceptualising, analysing, and interpreting clinical and psychological data, and presenting research plans and analyses in English. I have acquired a greater knowledge of the cardiovascular system and its disorders, the contribution of emotional factors in cardiovascular disorders, and the interrelationships between psychological states and biological function. I have also learned the importance of partners/spouses for the patients' recovery and the interrelationship between their well-being. He has acquired advanced statistical and analytical skills in analysing different types of data and has developed knowledge and skill in writing and preparing papers for publication in peer-reviewed journals.

01/11/2017-28/02/2018

Research Assistant at Psychophysiology Laboratory (Group Leader: prof. Daniela Palomba), Department of General Psychology – University of Padova (Padova, Italy)

Supervisor: Prof. Daniela Palomba

I assisted in ECG data collection and analyses on a project exploring the relationship between depression and HRV in ischemic heart disease patients undergoing percutaneous coronary angioplasty surgery.

12/10/2015-10/10/2016

Pre-lauream internship (Bachelor's degree) at Mental Health Department of “ULSS 8 Berica”, Vicenza (Vicenza, Italy)

Supervisors: Dr. Livio dalla Verde, Dr. Raffaello Conti, Dr. Silvia Olivetto

During this pre-lauream internship, I worked in the Psychiatric Department, Mental Health Center (CSM) and Rehabilitation Department of “ULSS 8 Berica”. Briefly, I assessed patients with different mental diseases (depression, anxiety, schizophrenia, etc) supervised by psychologists, wrote and updated patients' clinical records, participated in the activities organised by the Rehabilitation Department and attended weekly staff meetings. Moreover, I developed and carried out two rehabilitative groups (“Assertiveness Group” and “Physical Activity Group”) with 20 psychiatric patients of the Rehabilitation Department (supervised by Dr. Raffaello Conti). Finally, I drafted my dissertation about the effect of the “Assertiveness Group” on these patients, using a longitudinal study design with pre- and post-assessment of patients and different statistical analyses (ANOVA, regression, etc.).
