Communication skills
I developed noteworthy communication skills through many exams and projects during my master degree. Furthermore, several exams aimed to improve these skills through different presentation of scientific publications.

Organisational / managerial skills
I achieved good managerial skills through several group projects that allowed me acquiring the skills to complete a work over many months collaborating with other members.

These skills were consolidated over the six months of collaboration with Alcor Laboratory at La Sapienza. In that period, we submitted 2 scientific papers and presented a demo for a European project.

Job-related skills   I completed the part related to Deep Learning in the development of the previously introduced papers. In particular, my skills are mainly focused on Computer Vision.

I've also been a tutor in a master degree course for the last 6 months.

Anyway, my academic backgroud is composed of a wide range of subjects. Robotics, control theory and computer science are few of them.
